4f) Please give us your ideas on how the consultant’s time should be put to use for you to gain the most benefit. Possible options include: one-to-one or group meetings to provide advice and guidance on relevant issues; facilitation of workshops/focus groups to develop strategies and/or initiatives; and on-going ‘distance’ mentoring.

4g) Your local authority should also be able to provide you with support and information to help you develop your travel plan. We will contact them to let them know you are receiving help from us. They may wish to get involved, e.g. by attending some of the meetings with our advisor. Would this be acceptable to you? If no, please tell us why not?

4h) Are there any other issues you would like to bring to our attention prior to receiving assistance?
13.2 Advisor Contract Specification

The following document is the current advisor contract specification that forms the basis of the contract between the SSA Managing Contactor and each SSA Advisor. This document was introduced in August 2002, replacing an earlier version.

1. Introduction

The Energy Efficiency Best Practice Programme (EEBPP)¹ is key part of the Government's commitment to meeting the UK’s carbon dioxide reduction targets. The EEBPP provides advice and support on energy efficiency measures in three key sectors: industrial, buildings and transport energy efficiency. Most of the day-to-day management of the transport sector is sub-contracted to a Managing Contractor.

The transport sector of the EEBPP seeks to raise awareness of, and provide information and advice on travel plans for all types of organisations as well as 'green' fleet management for company car fleets and sustainable distribution in the road haulage sector. The objective of the EEBPP’s travel plan related information and support services is to help organisations implement travel plans and related 'green' transport initiatives. One of these services is Site Specific Advice (SSA) which covers the provision of free help and advice from an expert advisor to individual organisations at their site. A related, supporting service is the Environment and Energy Helpline, through which organisations can receive up to two hours of distance advice to help with specific questions or problems.

2. Objectives

The main objective of the SSA and distance advice elements of the EEBPP’s travel plan related information and support services (the Programme) is to provide practical, focused site specific assistance to businesses, schools and other organisations to help them with the development and implementation of travel plans and related 'green' transport initiatives.

Organisations can receive up to 5 days of an advisor's time to help with the development and implementation of their travel plan. More time (up to 10 days) may exceptionally be offered for very large organisations or situations where there are a number of organisations working together on a joint plan. Less time (about 3 days) may be offered in the first instance to small organisations working in isolation.

A secondary objective of the Programme is to provide assistance to organisations requesting help through the Environment and Energy Helpline. This will consist of up to two hours of 'distance advice', arranged through the Managing Contractor.

3. Operation of the Programme

On receipt of a request for assistance, the following procedures will be used by the Managing Contractor to facilitate the effective operation of the Panel:

For Site Specific Advice:

- Managing Contractor will issue an information pack, including a pre-visit questionnaire, to establish the needs and the level and type of assistance required.
- Managing Contractor will contact the relevant local authority for further background information.

¹ Now the TransportEnergy Best Practice Programme. For more information about the scheme, contact can be made through the following website: http://www.transportenergy.org.uk/bestpractice/.
Managing Contractor will then select a Panel member to carry out the site visit, with the selection being based on a number of factors including relative locations, matching expertise and balancing resource assignments.

The Panel member will establish the aims and objectives of the assistance through initial communication with the client and their local authority.

The Panel member will then prepare ideas and materials necessary for assistance and visits recipient.

The Panel member will undertake up to 3 visits to recipient to progress their travel plan.

The Panel member will prepare an assignment report, including action plan, for the client. A copy of the report will also be provided to the Managing Contractor and, if the recipient agrees, to the relevant local authority.

Managing Contractor will issue a feedback questionnaire to the client and identifies any further requirements for notification to local authority.

For Distance Advice:

For distance advice received via the Environment and Energy Helpline, the Managing Contractor will refer calls on to a Panel member with an Order to provide up to 2 hours distance advice.

4. Description of Work

All work carried out by a Panel member shall be agreed, in advance, with the Managing Contractor. Following receipt of a Warrant for a SSA assignment, the Contractor shall:

- Carry out a preliminary review of information supplied by the school/business/leisure site. Make contact with the organisation to agree objectives of the visit, see what information might be available, and the likely range of contacts that should be involved (e.g. travel plan champion/travel co-ordinator, fleet manager, environmental manager, senior/finance manager).

- Contact the client's local authority to find out if there are any other issues that they should be aware of, e.g. relevant planning applications. In many instances it may be helpful for the relevant local authority officer to attend the site visits, as long as the client organisation is in agreement.

- Develop any necessary ideas and materials for use on the site visit. It will be the responsibility of the Contractor to request information on access, security and safety for the visit.

The Site Visit:

- Each SSA assignment should involve at least one site visit, but may entail up to three.

- The assistance provided to businesses, schools and other organisations must be relevant to developing and/or implementing a travel plan and related 'green' transport initiatives.

Examples of the type of assistance include:

- Advice on the design, implementation and analysis of staff or pupil travel surveys;
- Advice on establishing and measuring the costs and benefits of travel plan initiatives;
- Facilitation of workshops to develop a strategy for development of a travel plan;
- Facilitation of focus group/workshops to develop specific initiatives;
- Advice on the development/implementation of the most appropriate/cost-effective initiatives;
- Advice on the development and implementation of a marketing strategy for the plan;
- Signposting to other sources of assistance, e.g. local authority officers, good practice literature, marketing materials, etc.;
- Advice on the monitoring and evaluation of travel plans;
- Advice on setting up a steering group and or working group;
- Assistance with negotiations with public transport operators.

The type of assistance employed will ultimately be the decision of the organisation or school, although guidance will be provided on how they might make the best use of the Contractor’s time. The objectives and requirements of the technical assistance will be developed by the recipient, in consultation with the Contractor and the local authority, as appropriate.
Following receipt of an Order for 'distance advice' from the Managing Contractor, the Contractor shall:

- Contact the organisation or school by telephone to discuss the problem in detail and assess, on the basis of the Contractor’s knowledge and experience, possible solutions to the problem, or further sources of information and help as appropriate. The Contractor will then write a summary of the problem and the advice offered. These enquiries are expected to take no more than 2 hours to complete and will require no travelling.
- Contractors will be expected to maintain an up to date knowledge of local initiatives, support available to organisations, particularly SMEs, and possible local sources of funding.

5. Reporting

For Site Specific Advice:
For a SSA visits the Contractor shall prepare and submit a report for the Managing Contractor no later than two weeks following completion of the site visit/final site visit. Where there is to be more than one visit, an interim site visit report will be required no later than 1 week following the initial site visit which reports on progress and outlines the next steps.

The content and format of the final site visit report shall follow guidelines agreed with the Managing Contractor. It is expected that no report would be more than 8 pages in length plus annexes. The report shall in all cases:
- Give an analysis of the problem, including particular issues facing the organisation or school;
- Provide guidance on solutions / recommendations;
- Include a bullet point action plan that the organisation or school can implement.

The balance of the report will reflect the details of the specification for the visit provided Where the Contractor recommends that her/himself or his/her company may be able to carry out the follow up work, at least two other alternative consultancies must be recommended.

For Distance Advice:
For distance advice the Contractor will write a summary of the problem and the proposed advice on the fax/e-mailed Order/enquiry form. This should then be transmitted on to the caller and the Managing Contractor.

6. Deliverables

For Site Specific Advice: The Contractor shall submit one electronic datafile of a site visit report in Microsoft Word 6.0/95 format. The Contractor shall submit 4 hard copies of the final site visit report and an electronic datafile of key information in Microsoft Word 6.0/95 format.

For Distance Advice: For distance advice assignments, the Contractor shall submit a fax copy or an electronic datafile in Microsoft Word 6.0/95 format of the short report.

7. Timescales and Effort

It is estimated that support to a maximum of 5 days, subject to the exceptions highlighted above, will be required for each of the SSA assignments. This effort will include the visits (usually up to 3) and the time needed to prepare for the visits and for preparing the site visit reports and travelling to and from the site. No more than one full day may be booked for any one site visit, regardless of any travelling time carried outside of normal working hours. The initial site visit report should be received no later than 1 week following the initial site visit. The final site visit report should be received no later than 2 weeks following the final site visit. The short report for the distance advice assignment should be received no later than 1 week following completion of the assignment.
13.3 Report Writing Guidelines

The following guidelines were re-issued to advisors by AEAT on 8th October 2002 in order to clarify the interim and final SSA report writing guidelines that were first issued in 2001.

Purpose of Interim/Final Report

The objective of SSA is to assist sites in overcoming problems related to the development/implementation of their travel plans AND to enable them to independently carry on working on their travel plans.

The purpose of the report(s) is: (i) primarily to summarise the consultant's advice to allow the site to carry on working independently on the development/implementation of the travel plan; (ii) also to log what advice the site requested and what the consultant delivered.

The report should NOT provide background information about the site and the assignment for the benefit of AEA Technology or DfT. This means, avoid lengthy descriptions of points well known to the site, but raise the key issues that are relevant to the advice sought.

The final report shall in all cases:
• Give a (short) analysis of the problems/particular issues faced by the organisations;
• Provide detailed recommendations and guidance on solutions;
• Include a bullet point action plan that the organisation can implement during the assignment and following completion of the consultant's assignment.

Structure and Length of Report

What follows is an outline structure for the report (as presented at workshops in May and October 2001) and an INDICATION of the length of each section. Usually reports should be no longer than 8 pages PLUS annexes:

1 Introduction (usually no more than 1 page)
• Objective of the assignment;
• Site consultant contact details;
• Date of assignment, meetings;
• Status of assignment (e.g. 1st visit, final report).

2 Context (usually no more than 1–2 pages)
• Type of company/site;
• Brief and concise description of current situation;
• Status of TP activities.

3 Key Issues (about 2 pages)
• Description of issues relevant to the assignment including assessment/conclusions.

4 Action Plan (main body of the document)
• Description of recommended measures that allows the site to further develop/implement the travel plan:
  - Clear and detailed actions and procedures;
  - Action owner;
  - Timing.
5 Programme of Work (no more than 1/2-1 page)
- Next actions for the consultant;
- Deliverables;
- Timing.

6 Annex (length depending on deliverables)
- Copy of the Pre-Visit Questionnaire (PVQ);
- Copy of presentation material;
- Analysis of survey, etc.;
- Any other deliverables (copies of ad-hoc advice given by email, fax unless it is incorporated in the main body of the report).

Interim Report:
An interim report should be provided following the initial site visit. Following the initial meeting you should be able to provide information under sections 1, 2, 3 and 5 of the above report structure. During the course of the assignment the interim report can then be developed into the final report by amending the existing sections as necessary and by adding to sections 4 and 6.

AEA Technology requires only an electronic copy of the interim report, but we require two hard copies of the final report.

And finally:
There will be instances where the consultant is asked to provide ad-hoc advice on the phone and via email and to comment on existing travel plan documents. Also, consultants may be asked to lead focus groups, give presentations at board meetings, or help develop surveys for the site.

Even in these cases, we would expect a report along the lines of the above "model structure". The action plan may be much shorter, but, to stick with the example of the consultant that leads a focus group, s/he may recommend how to utilise the results of the focus group to progress the travel plan - this should form part of the report. Also, if the consultant provided ad-hoc advice this should be summarised in the final report.
13.4 Client Discussion Guide

Structured interviews with SSA clients were conducted using the following Client Discussion Guide. The data generated was subsequently analysed, the results of which are discussed in the Final Report.

Case no.:……………..    Name of interviewer:…………………………………
