

ASb approved

Rafiki's style

Louis Greenberg
Audrey Anderson

English

On Sunday, Jimmy Zogba scored the winning goal.

On Monday, the Cool Cat Crew strutted by.

"Hey, Rafiki,
where's your zebra
hair? Your hair's so plain, like you don't care."

"Hey, Rafiki,
where's your fake tattoo? Your skin's so boring. You are too."

"Hey, Rafiki,
where's your bling?
Your teeth are wonky, that's the thing."

That day, Rafiki walked home slowly.

"Auntie, can I have zebra hair?" "I can't cut you zebra hair. Actually, I wouldn't dare."

"My skin's so boring, Sisi. Can you make a fake tattoo?" "You don't need one to look like you."

"Mkhulu, I wish I had some bling."
"Bling, my child, don't mean a thing."

The next weekend,
Santi Ramires scored the winning goal.

On Monday,
the Cool Cat Crew strutted by.
"Hey, Rafiki!
Looking fine!"

Rafiki shrugged. "I look like me; this style is mine."

Rafiki's style

Author - Louis Greenberg

Illustration - Audrey Anderson

Language - English

Level - First sentences

© Louis Greenberg, Audrey Anderson, Wesley Thompson, Book Dash 2015

Creative Commons: Attribution 4.0

Source www.africanstorybook.org

Original source www.bookdash.org

