At my school (Being different)
Published by: The UCL Centre for Educational Leadership, University College London & The Centre for the Study of Resilience, University of Pretoria.

This publication can be copied, translated, or adapted when necessary steps have been taken to acknowledge all relevant sources.

Authors: Pudulogo Primary School, Grade 2A, 2022:

School: Pudulogo Primary School
Principal: Maite Rosina Rasekgokge
Teacher: E.D Mogosetso
CRC: Reabetswe Tau
Fieldworker: Modiegi Moleooatladi

Illustrators:
Cover: Omogolo Mapanyane
Page 1: Oregolele Mojaki
Page 2: Mmaleeto Nkosi
Page 3: Boitshepo Kunene
Page 4: Orapeleng Manuel
Page 5: Morapedi Manuel
Page 6: Lethabo Mokwele
Page 7: Goratileone Leping
Page 8: Onkabetse Mosala
Page 9: Omaatl Motsuenyane
Page 10: Mpho Pine

Font within booklet: Grade 1 font by Edu-Aid

Websites and links were correct at the time of publication.
For further information about the project, please visit http://www.ucl.ac.uk/ioe/enabling-schools

Acknowledgements

The following partners have played a valuable role in the co-creation of this storybook:

The North West Province Department of Education, Ngaka Modiri Molema District, South Africa.
The Department of Basic Education, Directorate: Rural Education, South Africa.
London South Bank University, United Kingdom.
The Economic & Social Research Council (ESRC) (ES/T005149/1), United Kingdom (funder).
The name of my school is Pudulogo Primary school.
I am in Grade 2.
We play different games at break time and sports time.
“My classmates do not have the same hair as mine”, said Mpho.
"Look at Mpho’s hair. It is not black like ours”, shouted one boy.
“Teacher, my classmates laugh at me, saying my hair is not like theirs.”
“My children, do you know that everyone is special?”

“No teacher,” answered the children.
Everyone is special in their own way. No one is like the other.
People have different talents. See, Katlego can sing and Tshepang can run. The children understood that they should not act badly against anyone. They apologised to Mpho, and she was happy.
At my school (Being different)

Authors:

Pudulogo Primary School, Gr 2A, 2022, North-West Province, South Africa http://www.ucl.ac.uk/ioe/enabling-schools