There was a herdsman called Tlhalefo. He lived on a farm near Ditshilo village.
Tlhalefo liked to help the people of Ditshilo village.
It stopped raining. There was drought.
The herdsman came up with a plan on what to do to have water in the village.
Tlhalefo came up with the idea of building a windmill in the village.
He went to the dumping site to look for the parts.
He started building a windmill.
Tlhalefo completed the windmill. There was water in the village.
The people from the village were happy. They thanked the herdsman.
